Website

- Following on from our update of Friday 25th of November 2022, we confirm that there will be a minor change in alignment for M8 southbound, N8 eastbound and N25 westbound traffic wishing to enter the Jack Lynch Tunnel from tomorrow morning.

- The aerial photographs below show the realigned routes - the main impact will be on N25 westbound traffic wishing to enter the Tunnel. This traffic will be directed under the new Structure, St05 as shown on the layout plan above.

Traffic entering the Jack Lynch Tunnel from the N25 Westbound diverge.

- Similarly, M8 and N8 traffic wishing to enter the Tunnel will also be directed under the new Structure, St05 as shown on the photograph below.

Traffic entering the Jack Lynch Tunnel from the M8 Southbound/N8 Eastbound.

- The additional traffic lights will duplicate the existing traffic lights shown on the aerial photographs above, and will not impact on traffic.

- The works will be carried out under night-time working tonight, Monday 28th of November 2022. The works are required to facilitate ground improvement works in the area west of Structure, St05 - shown hatched in the photograph below.

Ground Improvement Works to be progressed west of Structure St05.
